Senate Proposal to Allow Ex-Presi-

France is Eliminated in Report.[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Washington, May 10.—Conferees on the army bill reached an agreement today and the measure will be reported to the Senate today for confirmation.

The conference made the age limit of those subject to the selective draft, 21 to 31 years inclusive, in place of the 21 to 27 limit in the senate bill and 21 to 40 in the house bill.

The amendment sent in by the senate permitting Col. Roosevelt to raise four divisions for service in France was eliminated, as was another providing three volunteer regiments for border patrol duty.

Patriotic Demonstrations.

Many states plan to make registration day for the new army conscription the occasion for patriotic demonstrations, according to reports reaching the war department.

The senate amendment prohibiting the sale of liquor in army camps and otherwise safeguarding the morals of the troops were retained.

Representatives Kahn and Anthony, republicans announced they would not sign the conference report. Anthony was opposed to eliminating the Roosevelt amendment, and Kahn opposed the prohibitory section.

Chairman Chamberlain of the senate military committee, said he expected to report the agreement today because the senate must act first. The bill may not be finally agreed to until later in the week.

Elimination of the Roosevelt amendment is expected to arouse some opposition in the senate where it was put in by a large vote.

Protest War Taxes.

Protests against many provisions of the $100,000,000 war tax bill poured in upon congress today, as the house was about to start debate on the measure which raises the per capita tax of American people to $30.

EX-SENATOR FORAKER
DIES AT OHIO HOME

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Cincinnati, May 10.—Joseph Benson Foraker, former United States senator from Ohio, lawyer and soldier, died at his home at age seventy. Former Senator Foraker had been in poor health since his retirement from the senate in 1899, but it was not until two weeks ago that he was forced to his bed and his condition was not considered critical until last night.

Mr. Foraker was twice elected and likewise twice defeated in races for the governorship of Ohio, while he served two terms in the United States senate from 1897 to 1905. He had the honor of presenting the name of William McKinley to the republican national convention in '96 and 1900.

The sum of $75,000,000 has been loaned to the French and Belgian government jointly. More may be provided later. Copenhagen, May 10.—A representative of the German war department has admitted in the Reichstag that a number of Belgian subjects, residents in Cologne, were drafted into the German army in spite of their protests that they were veterans of the Belgian army. Summary of War News

The battle for Fresnoy continues to rage with a fury which recalls the bloody struggle for Fort Douaumont and Vaux in the days of the battle of Verdun. Thousands of lives are being pitted out to the mastery of the battle plan of war that was once a village and the blackened, twisted stuff that was once a wood, until Fresnoy threatens to rank with Vimy in the price paid for its possession.

The great importance of the position is due to the fact that it forms the last important defense to the northern end of the Douro-Queant line, and also covers the only remaining railroad to Lens connecting the coal city with the main German lines to the south.

The Douro-Queant line traverses one side of the railroad triangle, which has Lens, Arras and Vitry as its respective angles. All of one side of this roughly collateral triangle is in the hands of the British and about one-half of its base. Fresnoy must be held if the old triangle is not to be evacuated and the fall of Lens rendered certain. The enormous concentration of German divisions on the British front and the marked increase in gunpowder gives added significance to the report that Field Marshal Von Hindenburg is withdrawing both men and artillery from the eastern area.

Disorganization of the Russian army apparently has had a very serious effect on the whole allied situation and has materially increased the burden imposed on the British and French. The news from Russia is far from reassuring in any respect and apparently the provisional government still is in a precarious position.

There are no marked developments in the other war theatres. Fighting on the Macedonian front goes on with conflicting reports from the rival camps, but nothing as yet tells whether a movement in force is under way.

WESTERN RAILROADS
SHOW URGENT NEED FOR RAISING RATES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Washington, May 10.—Executives of western railroads testifying today before the interstate commerce commission, declared the need of their lines for a 15 per cent advance in freight rates was equally as urgent as that of rates in every other section of the country.

Increases of the cost of everything entering into the operation of the western systems, the commission was told, had so widened the gap between net revenues and expenses, that an increase in the intra-state as well as in the inter-state rates would not meet the deficiency. Spokesmen for eastern and southeastern lines have made similar declarations.

Statistics presented to the commission on behalf of forty-six carriers of the west, purport to show that the proposed advance in rates would fall $20,000 short of meeting increased operating costs, interest and anticipated.

Among witnesses called for today were W. B. Biddle, president of the St. Louis & San Francisco, and R. H. Ashton, president of the Chicago & North-

BAD FIRE DAMAGES

NEW YORK CITY HALL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

New York, May 10.—Fire broke out early this afternoon in the city hall, early yesterday the French commission was received.

The fire broke out in the cupola of the historic edifice, and the indications were that it had gained considerable headway ten minutes later. The whole building had been wired for electric lights for illumination in connection with the reception for the French commission. It was thought possible the blaze was caused by defective installation.

The blaze was not under control thirty-five minutes after it began, and thick volumes of smoke which poured out indicated that the fire was of considerable proportions.

The water from the firemen's hose was flooding through the building, and it was feared much damage would be done to paintings and other historical objects.

The flames, five minutes later, suddenly burst from all sides of the cupola.

With nothing but the shell of the cupola standing, and its famous old clock destroyed, the firemen at 1:45 o'clock announced they had the flames under control.

GONDOLA AND HOPPER CARS
STILL SCARCE; HOLDS UP
SHIPMENTS OF GRAVEL

Because of orders that all gondola and hopper cars must be used only for the shipping of coal and iron ore, to facilitate the government's preparations for war, the Milwaukee road has been unable to give cars to the Janesville Sand & Gravel company for the past week, and as a consequence much construction work throughout the state is being held up because of the lack of material. F. W. Zimmerman, agent for the road, stated this morning that the only cars being used for the shipment of this material were a few sent out from the Pennsylvania lines to be used in the hauling of gravel for the new Union station in Chicago, now under construction.

The Northwestern road is still furnishing the local company with about thirty-five cars a day, but as the normal shipments from this city averaged from eighty to one hundred cars per day, many shipments have to be withheld. A report from Madison this morning states that the work on a concrete highway, just outside of the city has had to be ceased because they could not obtain the sand and gravel necessary.

It is not known how long this condition will last.

REPORT FAVORABLY ON DEFENSE MEASURE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Madison, Wis., May 10.—The joint finance committee of the legislature last night recommended for passage a bill giving the state council of defense power to take charge of the food situation in case of emergency. The bill provides that whenever the council of defense shall find "and determine that a scarcity of food, fuel, seeds or other personal property, necessary for the common defense, or for the general public welfare, exists or threatens while the nation is at war, that the state council of defense shall have power to take charge of the situation.

The bill further provides that whenever the prices are exorbitant, excessive or prohibitive, then the council is empowered to "take possession of such amounts of any or all property as it may deem necessary and shall pay just compensation for the same. This bill gives the council of defense the right to take charge of the storage warehouses and all storage facilities and to compensate the owners by a reasonable price. The owners of such property who are grieved by the price fixed by the state, may appeal to the circuit court for a review of the award. The bill was reported into the Senate Thursday morning and will probably be considered on Friday. There seems to be a sentiment in favor of laying the bill over until next week.

On the theory that German militarism was responsible for the world catastrophe and the German people were responsible for militarism, the author argues, the German people should accept the lesson of future war by paying every cent of the damage Germany's national wealth before the war was placed at eight hundred million dollars.

The remedy—the only remedy—he points out, is an "installment indemnity" to the Allies from Germany of about two billion four hundred million dollars a year.

On the theory that German militarism was responsible for the world catastrophe and the German people were responsible for militarism, the author argues, the German people should accept the lesson of future war by paying every cent of the damage Germany's national wealth before the war was placed at eight hundred million dollars.

The German people are solidarized with the emperor and his soldiers. Having committed unutterable crimes in the emperor's instigation, the people should participate in the reparation for these crimes.

"While it appears that such a series of indemnities would work ruin to Germany, the contrary is the case," the author says.

Germany would be forced to abandon her annual gigantic military budget of several hundred million dollars for her fleet and armies. This element alone would radically transform Germany.

Millions of would-be soldiers would be thrown into useful occupations.

"After all that has happened," the author says, "could any nation rest easy and have faith in a treaty signed by Germany? What remains then for a peaceful Europe of the future but to force Germany to dis- arm?"

Touching on Allied war losses which will figure in a future indemnity, the statistician says that the end of 1914 alone the Allies counted their dead at about thirty-five thousand millions. He compares this to the cost of the American civil war which was about $7,000,000,000. He declares that France, England and Italy alone are spending about $2,000,000,000 a month. These are expenses and do not include devotions, provinces, deportations and ruin of civilian populations. In the last month 30,000,000 allied soldiers in arms at an average upkeep of four dollars a day, the prodigious expenditure for munitions with single shells costing $3,000; added to the expense of the Allied fleets and mercantile shipping losses from German submarines.

The writer even computes in his surest manner possible German indemnity the amount of losses to Allied families of bread winners and the cost in the future for orphans and widows. He adds:

"Modern wars place hors de combat a third of their combatants. It is estimated that between six and seven million men of the Allied armies will have been lost or rendered use less for life by the war."

"German statisticians value the life of a German soldier at $4,000. If the Allies are charitable enough to admit that the life of a soldier fighting for right and liberty is of no greater value we arrive here alone at the round figure of $24,000,000,000."

The Allies will ask the full amount of the taxes from the perpetrators of this war. The unique means outlined is the only way to destroy Prussian militarism and at the same time render the Germans themselves sociable."

VARSITY GRADUATION WILL NOT BE CHANGED

Madison, Wis., May 10.—The state tax commission today fixed the valuation of all terminal railroad property in Wisconsin at $15,971,800. This property will pay a tax of $221,128.

The cities of Algoma, Ashland, Green Bay, Kewaunee, Manitowoc, Milwaukee, Sheboygan, Superior and Washburn will receive taxes under the administration of the tax commission to day.

Last year the terminal property in Wisconsin were valued at $13,736,494 and the aggregate tax paid to the different cities was $180,945,444.

Under law passed by the 1915 session of the legislature the state tax commission will value all terminal property and collects this tax on the same basis as other railroad property is assessed. When the tax is collected, however, the amount of terminal taxes due to each city having a terminal is then refunded to the city.

Last year the city of Superior received in terminal taxes $101,660.98; Milwaukee, $10,784.65; Ashland, $16,767.40; Green Bay, $10,532.24; Washburn, $2,185.35; Sheboygan, $8,503.83; Green Bay, $5,701.33; Kewaunee, $1,320.45; Manitowoc, $1,200.

One of the reasons for an increase in the valuation and taxes of terminal properties this year is due to the construction of new docks at Manitowoc and Ashland.

FATHER AND SON DIE SERVING FRANCE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Paris, May 10.—Under-Lieutenant Edouard Rev. Sr., 50, Poitier Edouard Rev. Jr., 18, father and son, died together in the same battle.

Official records have just told the story. The two Revs left wife and mother in a cottage in the village of Gaillard, France, and marched away together to fight the Germans.

The elder Rev, more brilliant, won medals and promotions. His son, however, was content to fight quietly by his father's side.

One day the task fell to the elder Rev's section to bomb out a German machine gun which held up the progress of the section. Father and son advanced side by side as usual. Two bullets struck the father, but did not kill him. A third struck him in the head and he fell dead just as another bullet mortally wounded his son. They died almost at the same moment.

LATIN MERCHANTMEN ACTIVE IN SOUTH AMERICAN WATERS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Washington, May 10.—Additional competition for our new merchant marine has already established itself. Commercial reports just received from Buenos Aires tell of the inauguration of a regular line of Japanese cargo steamers between Japan and Brazil and Argentina.

The Osaka Mercantile Steamship company of Tokyo projected the line, and one vessel, the Kaneko Maru, 10,000 tons, already is in service. The line will touch at Vladivostock, Chinese ports, Singapore, Durban and Cape Town, in addition to South American ports.

Brazilian ports are reported to have contracted for large numbers of Japanese colonists to help harvest the coffee crop.

On the theory that German militarism was responsible for the world catastrophe and the German people were responsible for militarism, the author argues, the German people should accept the lesson of future war by paying every cent of the damage Germany's national wealth before the war was placed at eight hundred million dollars.

The figure comes today from the pen of Jean Pinot, well known French editor, writing in the current number of La Revue, of which he is the editor.

"A Peace of a Hundred Years" is the title of the article. This is only possible, the author argues, by forcing Germany to purge herself of future militarism. The remedy—the only remedy—he points out, is an "installment indemnity" to the Allies from Germany of about two billion four hundred million dollars a year.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Fair tonight and Friday; not much change in temperature; probably frost tonight east portion.

IT IS PATRIOTISM.

Twice a week, Tuesday and Friday evenings, Janesville's military unit, Company M, 1st W. N. G., drills on the streets outside their armory on East Milwaukee street, weather permitting. It is not simply by choice, but so that the hundreds of interested citizens can watch the maneuvers and the men can have more room to execute the orders, than in the crowded confines of the armory proper. These men are preparing to uphold the honor of the nation and country when called into service. They are seeking to perfect themselves as quickly as possible in the arts of war so as to give a good accounting when their time comes for actual service. One would expect that artists and drivers of vehicles would appreciate this and be patriotic enough to drive around a block rather than break through military formations to satisfy their personal desires. It would appear that it should not be necessary to have police officers present to warn them away; they should be patriotic enough to do it without. On the other hand it would appear that the city officials, the mayor as head of the police department, should notify his chief, if that official forgets his duty to the public, to have officers stationed there so that the interested citizens who crowd into the streets might be safeguarded, as well as the young men who are offering themselves to the nation might be subjected to no interruptions during these drills. Each Tuesday and Friday nights the company appears on the streets and have been, weather permitting, for a month past. The light at this point, due to the new "stagger" system, makes it an admirable drill ground and it is a display of patriotism that they are given free use of the streets on these two evenings for the half to three-quarters of an hour they use them. In Boston, New York, Philadelphia, even in Chicago and Milwaukee, streets are blocked off for the use of the soldiers when they desire them, but here the autists believe they have the right of way and otherwise it to the detriment of the people who do not ride in cars and wish to witness the progress the soldiers are making from one drill to another. The next drill, weather permitting, is Friday. Make it a test for your patriotic spirit.

COMPULSORY TRAINING.

One reason why little Switzerland has been able to keep out of the maelstrom that is sweeping nation after nation into war, engulfing Serbia, Montenegro, Rumania, Poland and Belgium, in practically absolute slavery, is because of its compulsory military training that has created an army of soldiers, that not even Germany dare offend. It neutrality has not been invaded, and located as it is, in the very center of the seething vortex of the fighting nations, it retains its identity fearless of the future. Every man capable of bearing arms in this, the oldest of republics, is a trained soldier. He does not need months of instruction in camps, fort or armories to prepare him to fight for his country against a foe. He is ready to shoulder his gun, don his uniform, take his place in the ranks and do his "bit." This is what this nation must come to if the members of congress ever get through with their infernal jangle over the selective draft bill, the tariff measure and the army and navy appropriations. It is coming next and when it does it is going to teach the youth of this country the one great cardinal principle of manhood, "obedience to orders." The bright and shining illustrations we find leading about our streets afternoons and evenings demonstrates that if parental control is out of the question, government control had better come, and the quicker it arrives the better it is for the boys of America. Compulsory military training will make a man out of a youth who might otherwise drift into paths that are dangerous. You can not make a whistle out of a pig's tail or a silk purse from a sow's ear, but you can train a tree to grow straight if the twig is properly cared for, and taking these youths at the crucial stage in their life will mean much to them in after life. Let us have compulsory training by all means as the greatest safeguard against future war, and for the benefit of the nation. The country, with millions of men ready to fight, armed and equipped, is not to be sneered at, and can act as a police man for the entire civilized world if need be, for fear goes a long way towards enforcing order and discipline.

THE CIVIC LEAGUE.

The citizens of Janesville should be proud of the women of its corporation who have accomplished what the members of the Janesville Civic League have within the past twelve months. The establishment of the Janesville Center—the Woman's Rest Room—in itself was a task equal to the cleaning of the Aegean stables, that is counted as one of the great works of Hercules, but aside from the general good they accomplish is startling. Carrying in their work, the officers, chairmen of various committees and members as a whole, have done yeoman service in behalf of the city and they deserve all the recognition possible for their unselfish labors. Janesville is proud of them and the members at their gathering Wednesday, by re-electing their old officers, with Mrs. S. M. Smith as president, showed their appreciation of the work accomplished under able management, and while they again impose tasks upon the leaders, it is with the redoubled assurance that the citizens are behind them as well as the members of the league itself.

When you come right down to it, this country has got to build ships faster than ever before or stop that submarine warfare. Invented in this country, it has been developed into a world's menace, just like the troubles that escaped from Pandora's box centuries ago, and has bothered the unfortunate humans ever since.

FIVE O'CLOCK TEA.

Truly this war works wondrous changes. The English people must give up their "Five O'clock Tea." They must forego their toasted muffins and cakes, all for the sake of a wonderful campaign to conserve the food supply of the "Island Empire." From the palace, to the humble cottage, the mystical hour of five has seen the tea served in the drawing rooms or beside the kitchen stove. Now it is to be tabooed. The women of England are patriotic and they are not complaining. Exchanges from London tell of the wonderful change that has come and how people have learned that they can do without certain foods they formerly thought essential to their happiness.

Now are the women the only ones to do without this extra "bit of tea," without other sacrifices being made. For months past no grains have been fed to the cattle, work horses have been furnished with sparing doses, but the bulk of the grain is being ground into food. Crumpets and muffins, those wonderful creations, are also on the list of forbidden foods. An English paper publishes the following to show what is actually expected, and American women may read and contemplate on future possibilities at home.

Now for the rolling bun!
Now for the muffin and toast!
Now for the gay Sally Lunn!

—W. S. Gilbert.

The food controller has made an order the effect of which is in the first place to prohibit entirely the making of any light pastries, any muffins, crumpets, tea cakes, and other light articles of food. In the second place cakes, buns, scones, and biscuits, which alone are permitted, must conform to certain requirements as to the amount of sugar and of wheat-flour which may be used.

The percentage of sugar allowed is, in the case of cakes and biscuits, 15 per cent; in the case of buns, 10 per cent; in the case of scones, no sugar may be used. With respect to the wheat-flour, not more than 20 per cent is allowed to be used in cakes, and 50 per cent in buns and scones.

The order precludes any ornament at cake being made, or the addition of any substance to the cake in baking or after it has been baked.

Articles of the prohibited kind may not be made after Saturday next or sold after Tuesday next, but there is a provision that cakes and biscuits which can be proved to have been made before April 23, may be sold up to a later date.

Tea Shop Order.

The order also rationed tea shops in respect of breadstuffs and cakes, the principle adopted being that where a public eating place is excluded from the public meals order it shall not serve any individual customer between the hours of 3 p. m. and 6 p. m. with more than 2 ounces in all of bread and permitted cakes.

This provision does not apply to public eating places which limit to 8d. the maximum price chargeable for any meal not containing meat, fish and eggs served between the hours mentioned. This provision comes in to force on Monday next.

Do you know why we have the late spring? No? Well it is because the first herald of springtime—the "Little German Band"—failed to materialize. No matter if the band was made up of Austrians, Italians, Greeks or Russians, or even a Gypsy concoction, it was always a "Little German Band," and the failure of spring to arrive is because it did not hear the discords, they usually perpetrated, announcing it was time to appear, and refused to wake from her winter slumber. Do you blame her? Where is the band? It must be a German plot, their non-arrival?

No need to take a trip east or west to view nature at its best. Wait a few weeks and then journey up the Rock river and see the wonders that unfold before your eyes like a panorama. Artists may paint pictures of eastern and western wonders, but right here at home we have one of the most beautiful winding streams that delight the eye of the visitor who sees them for the first time and which are not appreciated by the average citizen within whose reach they are for twelve months in the year.

There is one consolation that Rock country farmers can know they are doing their share this year by their planting of grains and potatoes. Happy the man with a few acres who has corn, wheat, potatoes, beans, and garden truck planted, and a cow, a pig and a few chickens. He can live like a lord next winter and laugh at high prices.

No use jeering the young man who has tried hard to find some means to demonstrate his patriotism, if he fails. He is just as much a hero as the young man who succeeds. He has the satisfaction of having tried, which is more than a lot of youths can say without purging themselves.

The legislature is anxious to adjourn. It is coming on corn planting time and they want to get home to see if the hired man has the fields plowed properly. The five hundred dollars has long since been spent and they need new financial fuel to continue their legislative action.

ROY K. MOULTON

UNDER THE BED

Do you fear you'd be missed if you had to enlist?
Are you rather disposed to exclaim, "You can bet I would go but my eyes try me so, Well, I hardly can see with the same?"
Do you tell one and all that you'd answer the call?
Were you younger and free and unwed?
That you have to support an old uncle? In short,
Are you under the bed?

Perhaps you declare that you'd surely be there
Were it not that your hearing is poor;
Perhaps you allow you'd be drilling right now.
But you're far under weight, to be sure;
Perhaps you are weak in the hoof, so to speak. Or perhaps you have pains in your head; Or you're one of those chaps with poor teeth, or perhaps you are under the bed!.

NOW MAKING POWDER
FROM COFFEE BEANS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Rio de Janeiro, May 11.—After forty years of chemical research, a way has been found to double the already enormous value of the coffee crop by manufacturing by-products from the coffee berry husk.

One of the by-products—mannite—properly combined with nitrogen makes an explosive of about the same power as dynamite or fulminate of mercury, and markets at about $10 per kilogram.

The average coffee crop of the state of São Paulo, Brazil, is ten million sacks of 132 pounds each, representing a value of more than $80,000,000. The value is in coffee without the products.

Dr. Pedro Baptista Andrade, the chemist, already has begun manufacturing the by-products, which he discovered. He proposed to produce 200,000 liters of alcohol, 360,000 kilograms of manita and 35,000 kilograms of caffeine. Caffeine is a compound, price of 10 cents a gram. Alcohol is sold here at about 12 cents a liter. Dr. Andrade's process is to treat by distillation processes the coffee berry husk, which heretofore has been considered as useless.

Because of the war-made demand for explosives and alcohol, the new industry is expected to jump quickly into prosperity.

EVERY VARSITY MAN
MUST DO HIS SHARE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., May 10.—President Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin is planning to have his "Wisconsin war service" carried to its greatest extent.

The president of the institution feels that every one should do something for his country and do it quick. He plans to have a division of all the students divide so that all will know what they are doing to do this summer. The plan has been carefully and thoroughly worked out and has been approved by the faculty.

The first step will be a careful canvass of the students by means of questionnaires given out in classes and followed up by student advisors and other officers. The results of the canvass will be carefully tabulated and submitted to the intercollegiate intelligence bureau, which is making a survey of the number of men able to serve their country.

A systematic effort will be made to find the proper task for each man and woman student to perform. In this matter the state council of defense will co-operate. An insignia of recognition of such emergency service will prob-

COMPANY "M" MAKES $400 IN BIG DANCE

GENERAL RESPONSE OF CITIZENS NETS BIG SUM FOR THE COMPANY FUND—BUT LITTLE EXPENSE.

NEARLY 1,000 PRESENT

Huge Crowd Enjoys Military Ball—
Crowd Arrives Early and Remains Until Three in the Morning.

Over four hundred dollars was cleared by Company M at their first great military ball held last evening at the Assembly hall, and nearly one thousand Janesville people gathered for one of the merriest, most democratic social evenings ever held in this city. The affair was a number of the enlisted men in the company, and to the efforts of Captain Caldwell and Lieutenant Rau, a sale of tickets was made in the week previous to the affair, which insured a larger crowd than has ever been known at the historic old Assembly hall. Many old-timers attended the function, declared that no since the formation of the political rallies of past days has the ball been as crowded as it was during most of last evening.

A large number had assembled by the time the dance started shortly after half past eight, and from then until the doors closed at three in the morning the floor was crowded with happy guests.

The music was furnished by Hatch's orchestra, led by Mr. Hatch himself, and was of a character which won the praise of all the dancers.

Under the direction of Lieutenant Rau, the ball room had been artistically decorated with many paper streamers and flowers, forming a great canopy under the ceiling, aside from the expense involved in this feature of the occasion, the money taken in was almost clear profit for the company.

The firm of J. M. Bostwick and Sons, had generously donated the hall and the music as part in aiding Janesville's garrison company, and the members of the company handled all arrangements, but little outside expense was incurred.

The money will be devoted to the helping of the men when they are called out, and goes into what is known as the company fund. With this the men are provided with many little comforts of life not provided for in the regular equipment and rations of the army.

Each company raises a similar fund in its community before mobilization with which to meet these expenses.

While it is not known definitely how much has been raised by the units, the officers and men of the local company feel most grateful to the citizens of Janesville for their generous response to their call for money.

The dance was expected to net them but two hundred dollars, but the financial success of the affair has created an optimism among the men that will much toward making it one of the great successes of the year.

Captain Caldwell this morning deposited approximately four hundred dollars in the bank, and there are yet a large number of tickets which have not been accounted for.

Edgerton, Brooklyn and other nearby towns have a keen interest in the company because of their own men who have enlisted in it and generous support in buying tickets is looked for from those places.

News Notes from Movieland

Gail Kane has a passion for bathing suits. It's her hobby. She has one of the most attractive collections of one-piece, two-piece and fifty different sea shore outfitts in the city of Chicago. And she designs them all herself.

But this is introducing you only to the frivolous side of Miss Kane. Frivolity is the smallest part of her nature. In her 25 years of this planet she has made an enviable record.

She gained prominence first on the stage. The greatest impression in her dramatic career was created in George M. Cohan's comedy, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," in which she had one of the most important parts.

Following this she scored as an actress of great versatility and one whose powers of dramatic interpretation were unlimited.

In order to devote her entire time to the silent stage she gave up a number of important theatrical engagements.

She has been an ardent student of pantomime, and sacrificed an opportunity to star a few years ago through her great desire to see the last performance of the Passion Play at Oberammergau.

Her film connections have been with Metro Pathé and World. She has just completed a play called "Whose Wife?"

Miss Kane was born in Philadelphia and received her education at a private institution in New York, N. Y. The process of cramming knowledge was left off early, however, when the ambition to become an actress seized her.

As for recreations, the things she loves to do are most of all the outdoors sports, riding, swimming and driving.

Her 142 pounds of grace and dignity is carried without effort in her height of five feet and seven inches. And she has dark brown hair and eyes.

VARSITY MILITIA COMPANIES
IN COMPETITIVE DRILL TODAY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Madison, Wis., May 10.—The annual cadre corps competition was held today by the freshman and sophomore companies. The sophomores drilled in the morning and the freshmen in the afternoon. The work included all forms of maneuvers with guns and also with machine guns. Previous to the drills the captains of each company were forced to draw slips to determine which five maneuvers they would send their men through. In this manner the competition was made of an original nature and resulted in the best trained company in all forms to win the medal.

Captain Smith and Lieutenant Gardiner of Company G of the Madison militia acted as judges of the events. About one thousand students took part.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Do you think it is right for boys and girls to exchange photos if they are not engaged?

What should you write when you are returning an engagement ring by mail if you do not wish to marry the man?

(2) Do you think it is wrong for a girl to jolly the men along and make them think she cares a great deal for them when she doesn't and just wants to get a good time out of them?

(4) Do you think it is right to go with a young man steady when you are seventeen and not go with any other fellows if you are popular?

(5) How would you judge a man who is always swearing in your company when he feels cranky or mean?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: When a young man comes to see you on Sunday afternoon, what would be nice to get for supper? Or would a lunch be all right? What would be nice for lunch?

People are not expected to serve meals on Sunday night. A salad, hot rolls, jelly, tea and cake would be plenty to serve. You could call the meal lunch or supper whichever you prefer. Some people like to have baked beans on Sunday night. Per haps the boy would enjoy them more than salad.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am sixteen. I have been going with a young man for two years. He proposed to me the other night. I love him and as I have no home, would it be all right to get married?

(2) Is it all right to ride in a buggy for a short distance with two fellas if they are good friends of mine?

(3) Is two o'clock too late to stay up with a fellow whom you have not seen for a few weeks?

(4) You are too young to be engaged. You will not make boys enough to care for you and without a couple of them better than you do this boy. Wait until you know more about life and people before you choose your husband.

(5) Yes.

(6) Is it altogether too late. You should not let a boy stay later than ten o'clock.

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Far from being relaxation, riding in an automobile is a strain upon endurance, no matter what the make or type of car. The owner-driver particularly feels that strain whether he admits it or not. Let him submit to a blood-pressure test at the end of a ride of any considerable distance, and the chances are that the pressure will be found elevated well above the normal.

Many a careful, law-abiding driver speeds slowly to his doom, thanks to the low cost of living. The automobile takes you out in the给予 you an appetite like no man. At the same time it gives you no exercise, nor the use of your as the old maid would say, lower extremities commonly known as legs. Under such conditions you are pretty sure to bite off more than you can metabolize, and the excess of nutrient stores up trouble for the future. FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES ALONG
MANY LINES

URGES BUILDING PLAN

Women's Building Is Important Need of Every City, Says Milwaukee Club Leader—Federation
Business Transacted.

With the message that "being a club woman is big business," Miss Lutie Stearns, of Milwaukee, began an informal address before the women of the city Federation Wednesday afternoon.

For an hour they were alternately moved by laughter, stirred to depths of feeling, or inspired to new ideals of service by her eloquence.

Miss Stearns is one of those alive, and packed full of wisdom, gleaned from her varied experiences and told with a quaint humor, whose pungent wit is softened by plenty of the "milk of human kindness." She showed that the business of being a club woman was getting bigger all the time, that most of them nowadays are doing wonderful things for humanitarians.

She said that she, with many other club women, was saved from the "disgrace of leisure" by the multitude of things needed to be done.

She spoke of the civic service being done by the women of the city, the country, and said there was no thing like the fairs of ancient Greece, when there was "too much grease in the kitchen." She mentioned the exclusive club as being narrow-minded and said that club women should be inclusive instead of exclusive.

She should draw in a small circle

but include everybody.

Miss Stearns thoroughly enjoys talking to an audience of sympathetic club women, and from the varied experiences she has met with, she was able to tell incidents showing the different work of club women. She has recently come from New Mexico and Texas and described the work of clubs in that section. From California she spoke of the work of the women in San Francisco, in securing the recall of a corrupt judge, was mentioned. They simply went out and got the twenty-five thousand signatures needed, on a recall petition, and afterward worked hard so that he was defeated for re-election. She said that club women must learn to "disagree agreeably" and forget personalities in public service. She asked that women be willing to do the work of their clubs and quoted the following pledge which is subscribed to by all members of the clubs known to the speaker: "Believing in the work of the club, I solemnly agree to do my share." She said that the tendency many times was, if a woman is willing to work, give her plenty to do.

Speaking of the work of the liquor interests in the state against the interests of the referendum bill, she said there were six reasons in Milwaukee why she could not support it. They were: Schlitz and Pabst and all the rest of the brewery interests. She asked that the nation might be awakened so that the "barley now going into beer might go into soup."

She touched on the question of universal peace, which she said was the result of this "universal war" of nations.

In coming to the question of a woman's building which should house all these varied activities of the woman's clubs, she asked for a real social center, a community house, a place for humanitarian efforts of the city, free for all and as a social center for its activities. This should include, she said, parlors, club rooms, dormitories for girls and a cafeteria.

She gave the experiences of many other places where this thing was tried out, giving methods of raising money and ways of spending the money. In closing, Miss Stearns said,

"Not in itself success, but of helpful to others" is that of the club woman of today, believing that "the true nobility of life is in honest service."

A delightful one o'clock luncheon was enjoyed by about one hundred twenty-five ladies served in the Congregational church parlor. Baskets of yellow sprays flowers decorated the tables and the serving was done by eight young ladies.

At the business meeting held immediately after the luncheon, the president, Mrs. S. M. Smith, in an interesting talk, told something of the history of the city Federation in this first year of its existence.

A full report of the business transacted was given by the secretary, Mrs.

C. S. Atwood, who spoke especially of the Janesville Center, which had had over 5,000 visitors since it was opened last July, and now had regularly from twenty to twenty-five girls who ate their luncheon there during the noon hour.

A report of the treasurer, Mrs. H. D.

Murdoch, showed that $1,709.42 had been paid out during the year.

She spoke of the bond of $500 owned by the organization and the sum of $120

now in the bank as a nucleus of a building fund.

The auditor, Mrs. L. Amerpoli, reported her report on the books, and reports were given by the standing committees.

For the Munger, who gave a splendid resume on the work of the pediatric clinic, the sale of the penny packages of seeds, and the fly campaign.

Mrs. Fred Sheldon on the rummage sale, with suggestions for the intended use in the fall.

Miss Cobb on Red Cross work, asking for co-operation in obtaining new memberships.

Mrs. Helms gave a brief report of the educational committee, especially with reference to the movie pictures.

LITTLE ENGINEER

Copyright by Flushing M. Bovell Company

The great engineer had a high idea of his only son's ability. He was willing to proclaim it, to maintain it, and defend it against all comers except himself. When the two wits clashed, he recognized but one way, his own. The relations between the two were lovely but not blind. There was leadership not partnership, direction rather than cooperation. The knowledge and experience of the boy—for so he loved to call him—were, of course, nothing compared to those of his father. When in discussing most points, the younger man had been unconvinced by the calculations of the elder, he had been taught to see in a good-natured way. His carefully set forth objections, even in serious matters, had been overruled generally, and by triumphant calculations of his own the father had reinforced himself in his conclusions; and the more strongly because of the opposition.

Young Meade's position was rather anomalous. He had no direct supervision of the construction. He was there as resident engineer representing his father. He had welcomed the position because it gave him an opportunity to see from the very beginning the erection of what was to be the greatest cantilever bridge the feet of the world had ever trod upon, the wheels of the world had ever rolled across. He had followed with the utmost care, constantly reporting the progress to his father, every step taken under the superintendence of Abbott, a man of great practical ability as an erector, but of much less capacity as

try. "so long as the bridge stands." "And that is going to be forever, isn't it, Mr. Meade?" asked Abbott quickly. "I don't think anything built by man will survive quite that long," he answered as much to her father and the others as to her, "but this gives every promise of lasting its time."

"You know," observed Curtiss, "there was some question in my mind about these big compression members. When I first studied your father's drawings, I wondered if he had made the lacing strong enough to hold the webs."

"That matter was very thoroughly gone into," said Meade quickly. "It was the very point which I myself had questioned, but father is absolutely confident that we provided lacing enough to take up all the stresses. I looked into that matter myself," he went on with much emphasis.

"I guess it's all right," said Curtiss lightly. "I examined the webs and latches carefully this afternoon. They seem to be as tight as possible."

"Those trusses," said Abbott emphatically, "will stand forever. You need not worry about that."

"Are you going to finish this job on time?" asked Severence, the vice president. "You know the financial end of it is mine, and much depends upon the date of completion."

"That depends upon you people at the shop, doctor. If you get the stuff here to me I'll get it in place in short order," answered Abbott.

"We aren't worrying about anything with you and Meade on the job, Abbott," said the colonel genially.

"Yes, you are, father," said the girl. "Ever since the International has been started you have scarcely been able to give a thought even to me. I'm tired of it. I hope the old thing will soon be finished, so that we can all go back to normal life again."

"I hope so, too," assented the colonel. "And I guess you are right. The fact that this bridge is an obsession with us all. It is the biggest job the Martlet has ever handled. Indeed, it is the longest cantilever, the greatest span, the heaviest trusses, the—"

"I've heard all about it," interrupted the girl, waving him into silence, "ever since you began it. Sometimes it's beginning to obsess me, too."

"You don't look like it," whispered Meade, under cover of the general laugh that greeted her remark.

"What do I look like?" she whispered back quickly, in return.

But Meade had no opportunity to tell her.

"It is not exactly a subject for dinner conversation," said the colonel with sudden gravity, "but all of us here, even you, my dear, must realize how much that bridge means to us. I won't go so far as to say that its failure would ruin us, but it would be hard for us to survive."

"Have you ever known anything that my father designed to fail?" asked Meade, somewhat hotly.

"No, and that is why we took his plans in spite of—"

"In spite of what, sir?"

"In spite of Curtiss here and some others."

"Mr. Curtiss," said Meade, turning to the chief engineer. "If it will add anything to your peace of mind, I will assume my full share of responsibility for the matter. You know the books by Schmidt-Chemnitz, the great German bridge engineer?"

Curtiss nodded.

"At first—I—that is, we—thought that there might possibly be weakness in those compression members, but I checked them with the methods he advocates and then submitted the figures to my father, and then he went through the whole calculation and applied coefficients he felt to be safe."

After dinner the men sat out on the observation platform with their cigars and coffee. For those that liked it there was something in tall glasses in which ice tinkled when the glasses were agitated, but Meade declined all three.

"Is it hard work?" asked the traveler.

"Not after you get it," Smith replied.

The Bible class teacher in a certain Sunday school was extremely annoyed at the noise made by pupils in the next room. At last, unable to stand it any longer, he looked over the partition and, seeing one boy leaning over and boistered him over the partition, and, banishing him into a chair, said: "Now, you quiet."

Some minutes later a small head appeared over the partition and a mink voice said:

"Please, sir, you've got our teacher."
